GETTING STARTED GUIDE

Welcome to Dealerlink

A step-by-step guide for your first session. No technical background needed — just follow the steps in order.

SAVES AS YOU GO

Nothing to lose

Welcome to Dealerlink. This guide walks you through everything you need for your first day: signing in, setting up your business details, adding your first customer and product, and running a complete sale from quotation to dispatch.

You can do it all yourself, at your own pace. Set aside about an hour for a relaxed first run-through. You don't have to finish in one sitting — Dealerlink saves everything as you go.

Bookmark your workspace

Your workspace lives at your own web address — `your-company.dealerlink.in` (the exact link is in your welcome email). Save it in your browser. It is your private workspace — only your company's data appears there, never anyone else's.

01 First login & setting your password

You will have received a welcome email from Dealerlink (`noreply@dealerlink.in`). It contains your login link and a temporary password.

Can't find the email?

Check your spam/junk folder — Dealerlink is a new sender, so the first email can occasionally land there. If it still isn't there after a few minutes, contact us (see section 13) and we'll resend it.

To sign in:

Open your workspace link from the welcome email in your web browser (Chrome, Edge, or Safari on a desktop or laptop works best).

Enter your email address and the temporary password from the email.

Click Continue.

You'll be asked to set a new password straight away. This is normal and required — the temporary one only works once. Choose a password that has:

- ◆ at least 8 characters,
- ◆ one capital letter,
- ◆ one number, and
- ◆ one symbol (like `!`, `@`, `#`).

A strength meter shows you when it's good enough. Type it twice and save it.

Write your new password down somewhere safe, or store it in your phone's password manager. Dealerlink staff can never see your password — if you forget it, we can issue a new temporary one, but we can't tell you your current one.

Once saved, you land on your dashboard. You're in.

02 A quick tour of the dashboard

The dashboard (also called Overview) is your home screen. It gives you a quick read on the business at a glance:

- ◆ Pipeline — deals in progress and their total value.
- ◆ Inventory — stock on hand, reserved, and dispatched.
- ◆ Payments — money received recently and anything overdue.
- ◆ Reports — quick highlights, like your top dealer.

On your very first login everything will read zero — that's expected, because you haven't entered any data yet. The numbers fill in as you start working.

You may see a generic greeting like "Good afternoon" at the top — that's just a placeholder and doesn't affect anything.

The dark sidebar on the left is how you move around. You'll use these the most:

MENU ITEM	WHAT IT'S FOR
Overview	This dashboard / home screen
Pipeline	Track sales deals through stages
Dealers	Your customers
Catalog	The products you sell
Inventory	Stock you've bought in and have on hand
Quotations	Price quotes you send to customers
Performa Invoices	A formal quote/invoice before the sale is confirmed
Orders	Confirmed sales
Payments	Money received
Dispatch	Shipping goods out, with serial numbers
Reports	Sales, GST, stock and outstanding-money reports
Settings	Your company details, bank, logo, defaults

Click any item to open it. Don't worry about breaking anything — you can always click back.

STEP 03 OF 13

03 Finish your company setup (important: bank details)

Before you send any real document to a customer, spend two minutes confirming your company details. Open Settings in the sidebar.

Check that these are correct (we set them up for you, but please verify):

- ◆ Legal name — your registered company name
- ◆ GSTIN — your 15-character GST number

- ◆ State — your home state (this decides how GST is calculated — see the note below — so it must be right)
- ◆ Registered address

Please update your bank details before issuing any invoice

Your account may be set up with placeholder bank details until we have your real ones.

Your real bank details (account name, account number, IFSC code, branch) print on the footer of every tax invoice. In Settings, find the Bank section, click to edit, enter your real details, and save. Do this before you create your first invoice so customers get correct payment information.

While you're in Settings, you can also set sensible defaults (all optional, with reasonable values already in place):

- ◆ Default quotation validity — how many days a quote stays valid (e.g. 30).
- ◆ Default credit period — your usual payment terms in days.
- ◆ Low-stock threshold — when to warn you that a product is running low.
- ◆ Default terms & conditions — standard text that appears on quotations.

? How GST works in Dealerlink

Worth understanding once. Dealerlink decides the tax type automatically based on where the goods go, relative to your home state:

You never calculate this by hand — Dealerlink does it for every quotation and invoice. Just make sure each customer's state is entered correctly (next section), because that's what drives the tax.

STEP 04 OF 13

04 Add your first dealer (customer)

A dealer is a customer you sell to — a retailer, sub-dealer, or a project buyer.

Click Dealers in the sidebar, then Create a dealer.

Fill in:

- ◆ Legal name and Display name — the registered name, and a short name to show on screen.
- ◆ State — important. This decides whether the sale is taxed as CGST + SGST (same state as you) or IGST (a different state). Choose it carefully from the dropdown.
- ◆ GSTIN — the dealer's 15-character GST number. Dealerlink checks it's valid; if it's rejected, re-read it from their GST certificate. The PAN fills in automatically.
- ◆ Contact details, address, credit limit and credit period — as much as you have. You can always edit later.

Click Create dealer.

That's your first customer in the system. Repeat for as many as you like.

Moving from an older system?

If you have many dealers in a spreadsheet, we can bulk-import them for you — just ask (see section 13).

STEP 05 OF 13

05 Add your first product

A product is something you sell — for example a solar panel, an inverter, a battery, or a mounting structure.

Click Catalog in the sidebar, then Create a product.

Fill in:

- ◆ SKU — your own short code for the product (must be unique). For example PANEL-540W.
- ◆ Name, manufacturer and model — e.g. "Premier 540W Bifacial Panel".
- ◆ HSN code — the GST classification code for the product (4–8 digits). Check your supplier invoice if unsure.
- ◆ GST rate — pick from 0%, 5%, 12%, 18% or 28%. This is applied on every quotation and invoice for this product, so get it right. (Confirm the current rate for your products.)
- ◆ Prices — MRP, your usual purchase price, and your usual selling price. The selling price is offered as a starting point when you build a quotation; you can change it per quote.
- ◆ Requires serial number — tick this for items tracked individually (panels, inverters). Each unit will then need a serial number recorded when stock arrives. Leave it unticked for bulk items like cables or bolts.

Don't worry about getting the catalog perfect on day one. Add a few products you sell most, and grow it as you go.

STEP 06 OF 13

06 Put stock into the system (inventory)

Before you can sell, Dealerlink needs to know what stock you have. You record this as a procurement — a batch of stock arriving from a supplier. This is a few steps in sequence — follow them in order:

- 1 Click Inventory → Procurements, then New procurement.
- 2 Enter the supplier, the procurement date, and optionally the supplier's invoice number and date.
- 3 Add a line for each product: choose the product, the quantity, and the unit price you paid.
- 4 Click Save as draft.
- 5 On the procurement's page, click Confirm procurement.
- 6 For serial-tracked products (the ones you ticked "requires serial number"), click Enter serials and paste one serial number per line — one per unit. Dealerlink rejects duplicates and any serial already in your system.
- 7 Once every serial is entered, click Finalize as received.

Your stock is now in stock and ready to sell.

Why serials matter

Recording a serial for each unit means you can later see exactly which physical units were reserved for an order, which were shipped, and which were delivered — right down to the customer. It's the backbone of warranty and traceability.

STEP 07 OF 13

07 Create your first quotation and send it

A quotation is a price quote you send to a customer.

- 1 Click Quotations in the sidebar, then New quotation (you can also start one from a deal in the Pipeline).
- 2 Choose the dealer (customer). Their state is picked up automatically — so the correct GST (CGST+SGST or IGST) is applied for you.

Add line items: pick a product, set the quantity, adjust the price if needed. The selling price you set in the catalog is offered as a starting point.

Watch the totals on the right update live — subtotal, discount, taxable value, GST, and grand total all calculate automatically as you type.

Optionally add a document-level discount and terms & conditions.

Save the quotation. It gets a number like `QT-2026-0001`.

To send it to the customer: open the saved quotation and click Download (or Generate PDF) to get a professional PDF you can email or print. You can also email it directly from Dealerlink if you've set that up.

First PDF is a little slow — that's normal

The very first PDF you create can take a few seconds (you may briefly see a "preparing..." message). After that, they're quick. If it ever seems stuck, just wait a moment and try again.

A note you may notice: in the read-only view of a saved quotation, the GST percentages (e.g. "9%") may not show even though the GST amounts are correct and present. The maths is right and the PDF is correct — this is a small display detail we're polishing.

STEP 08 OF 13

08 Turn the quotation into a Proforma Invoice, then an Order

When the customer agrees, you move the quotation forward — you don't re-type anything.

Quotation → Proforma Invoice (PI). Open the quotation and choose Convert to PI. A PI is a formal document sent before the sale is confirmed.

- At this step you can set a Ship-To address if the goods go somewhere different from the customer's billing address. If the Ship-To is in a different state, the GST type can change (e.g. from CGST+SGST to IGST) — Dealerlink warns you when this happens and recalculates for you. This is correct and expected.

PI → Order. When the customer confirms, convert the PI to an Order (ORD-2026-0001). Confirming an order reserves stock for it.

- ◆ If you don't have enough stock, Dealerlink blocks the confirmation and tells you exactly which product is short and by how much. Add stock (section 6), then try again.

STEP 09 OF 13

09 Record a payment

When money comes in, record it against the order. This is a short three-step flow:

Click Payments in the sidebar, then Record payment.

Enter the amount, date, and method (bank transfer, cheque, etc.), and link it to the dealer/order.

Verify the payment, then Allocate it to the order.

Once allocated, the order's status updates (for example to Paid), and the money shows up in your dashboard and reports. You can generate a payment receipt PDF to send to the customer.

The three steps (Record → Verify → Allocate) exist so your books stay accurate — a payment is only counted against an order once you've confirmed and allocated it.

STEP 10 OF 13

10 Dispatch the goods

When you're ready to ship a confirmed order:

Click Dispatch in the sidebar, then create a dispatch for the order.

Pick the serial numbers of the actual units going out (from the stock you reserved). Dealerlink tracks exactly which physical items ship.

Record transporter / LR (lorry receipt) details as needed.

Generate the Dispatch Note PDF to travel with the goods.

Mark the dispatch delivered when it arrives.

That completes the full cycle, with every unit traceable by serial number:

STEP 11 OF 13

11 Where to find reports

Click Reports in the sidebar. You'll find:

- ◆ Sales Summary — what you've sold.
- ◆ GST Summary — your tax, correctly split into intra-state (CGST+SGST) and inter-state (IGST) — useful at filing time.
- ◆ Inventory / Stock — what you have on hand.
- ◆ Outstanding Receivables — who owes you money and how much is overdue.

These update automatically as you work — no manual report-building needed.

STEP 12 OF 13

12 Adding your logo and terms (optional, when ready)

You can run the whole system without these, but they make your documents look more professional. Do them whenever you have a moment, in Settings:

- ◆ Logo — upload a PNG, SVG, or JPG up to 1 MB (about 400×120 pixels works best). It appears in the sidebar, on your login screen, on PDF letterheads, and in emails. Until you add one, documents simply show your company name as text — which is perfectly fine.
- ◆ Default terms & conditions — standard text that pre-fills on new quotations.
- ◆ Bank details — please do this one before issuing invoices, not later (see section 3).

STEP 13 OF 13

13 Getting help

You're not on your own.

If anything is unclear or doesn't behave as you expect, reach out — especially during your first week, we're here to help you settle in.

YOUR DEALERLINK CONTACT

dealerlink.io@gmail.com

When you write, it helps us help you faster if you include:

- ◆ What you were trying to do (e.g. "creating a quotation for dealer X").
- ◆ What you expected to happen, and what actually happened.
- ◆ The document number if there is one (e.g. `QT-2026-0001`).
- ◆ A screenshot if you can — it's often the quickest way to show us.

Response time: we aim to reply within a few hours on business days. For anything urgent, don't hesitate to reach out.

Welcome aboard — we're glad to have you on Dealerlink.
